[THIRD DISPATCH.]

Chicago, July 16th.—The sensation in the not met. There can be no compromise." CHICAGO, July 16th.—The sensation in the papers this morning is a republication from the New York Sun of a seven-column article from the pen of Stepten W. Dorsey in relation to Garfield's elevation to the Presidency. Following is a brief synopsis: When Congress ordered an investigation into the system of letting star route contracts, General Garfield at Gargal Brad's respect made a [SIXTH DISPATCH.] EGSTON, July 16th.—The Brotherhood of Telegraphers here contains 250 members, and it is claimed that all will leave their keys Wednesday noon if a strike is ordered. A member of the Executive Committee of the Brotherhood went to New York to-night on a telegraphic summons from General Manfield, at General Brady's request, made a very thorough examination into the whole matter. The result was that he assured General Brady and Senator Dorsey that he was satisfied that the system would be defended, and promised that when the special appropriation for which General Brady asked should come before the Horse, he would not only come before the House, he would not only vote for it, but would also defend it upon the [SEVENTH DISPATCH.] CHICAGO, July 16th .- It is reported late come before the Hofre, he would not only vote for it, but would also defend it mon the floor. Realizing Garfield's great influence, not only with the Apprepriation Committee but also on the floor, both Brady and Dorsey were estisfied that the accusations against them would be satisfactorily defended. They had received Garfield's most pestive assurance that he would do all in his power to set them right, and they had every reason to believe that he would keep his word; but when the matter came up, Garfield not only failed them, but he allowed his influence to dwindle into insignificance by parleying with members of the House, and leaving town when the matter came up. Gorsey was inclined to forgive him for this, but not Brady. Both Garfield and Dorsey realized that it was a work that amounted to rothing less than organizing a movement for victory, that right after Garfield's monimation promised only defeat. In these depressing days—in July and in early August—it was Dorsey who gave encouragement for Garfield, and it was Dorsey who mapped out the plans of operations that met with Garfield's cordist approval, and down from him the most fu'some expressions of gratitude. The gent Republican party had come to this, at last. It had ronicated a Credit Mobilier man for President. The relations that he New York stalwarfa committed themselves to assume was subject to much correspondence between Garfield and Dorsey. The cancidate wrote Dorsey that he relied upon him to prepaye the way for the cardial co-operation of the sulky New York men. He declared to Dorsey that he regarded him as one of the best organizars, and kew if he would undertake the work of reconciliation it could be consummated. Dorsey provised to do it. Dorsey had told Garfield that the headers of the conditation of the sulky New York men. he would undertake the work of reconciliation it could be consummated. Dersey promised to do it. Dorsey had told Garfield that the Fifth Avenue Hotel conference would be the climax of the canvass. If it was successful, Dorsey promised success in November. It it failed, Dorsey said they might as well close the committee-rooms and let the campaign go by default. One day Jay Hubbell called on General Brady, then the Second Assistant Possmaster-General. "Brady," said he, "the star route contractors must embecibe at least $40.000 to the campaign fund, and you at least $40,000 to the campaign fund, and you must collect the money." Brady had little faith in Garfield. He could not torget that Garfield had promised to defend the star-route appropriations and had failed to do so. Still, GLENS FALLS (N. Y.), July 16th. -At four 'clock this afternoon the hoiler of the Glens er considering the matter for a while, Falls paper-mills works, at South Glens Brady said he would try to raise the money, provided satisfactory documents were received from Garfield. It was about this time wounded feet. Twelve persons were wounded from Garfield. It was about this time wounded. Some of the wounded are thought caived from Garfield. It was about this time that complaints were made both to Brady and Dorsey that General Garfield's hospitality was being abused, and that the candidate found himself seriously embarrassed for money. Garfield represented that it was not right to expect or allow a candidate to bo subjected to these burdens. This was just what Hayes had done before him, and Don Cameron, of Pennsylvania, sent Hayes a check for a handsome amount to relieve his the boiler was strong enough. The loss is check for a handsome amount to relieve his embarrassment. was destroyed by the concussion candidate. Thus, through Brady's help, large sums had been raised from the star route contractors, and by following the plane of Dorsey immense some were secured in New York. GENERAL CROOK'S THEORY EXPLAINED. A sensational story comes through the medium of the dispatches, to the effect that General Crook accomplished nothing by his raid into the Sierra Madre range. and was permitted to escape only on promise to the hostiles to insure their eafety i they should return to San Carlos Reservation. We have not a particle of faith in the story. It comes in questionable shape, is the chat of Mexican rancheros and gossins, and is wholly out of keeping with the people have, during twenty-five years of service, found to be a courageous to the letter and syllable. In this connection, and as tending to discredit the rumo referred to, it may be interesting to refer at length, and they must command respect, ability. The General has gained a reputation for being an Indian fighter, a sterr, border army. But he has always kept faith with the Indians. He has demonby inspiring him with confidence in the white man. This he himself freely admits is the secret of his own success. He was asked if he had no fears that his Indian scouts would turn against him. " Not the slightest," he replied; "these had left their families at the reservation as hostages, in fact, and were with us heart and soul because, for the misdeeds of the fleeing Apaches, their brethren, they had been held responsible by the people of Arizona, though wholly innocent. But I have been often out with Indian scouts when I really had no hold on them except the confidence which they had in me." From this General Crook would have us imply that most of our Indian troubles have arisen out of breaches of faith with the aborigines by our own people, and there is scarcely any doubt of his correctness in this conclusion We have held the Indian tribes to be foreign powers, and have treated with them as such, but have not compelled our people to respect the treaties, and naturally the Indian has not distinguished between the Government and the people under it in the any difference had he done so, because in | the rude logic of the Indian the Govern. law is obnoxious because it licenses liquor selling, ment that has power to treat should have Tucson, July 16th .- Word is brought here Sunday light, at the residence of S. Lavenson, a very pleasant party was given in honor of the twenty-first birthday of his son Mose. Quite a number of young folks were present to celebrate it, and a more social and enjoyable evening has rarely been spent. A pleasing musical and literary programme was rendered, and was the source of much amusement. At midnight a splendid supper was served, and after the guests had done ample justice to the feast, they regaired again to the parlers where various games were indulged in, and great merriment prevailed until a late hour.

I have known and watched the use of Swift's Specific for over fifty years, and have never known or heard of a failure to cure Blood Poison when properly taken. I used it on my servants from 1850 to 1865, as did also a number of my neighbors, and in every case that came within my knowledge it effected a cure. In all my life I have never known a remedy that would so fully accomplish what it is recommended to do. H L DENNARD, Perry, Ga.

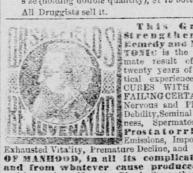

I have known and ared Switt's Specific for more than twenty years, and have seen more wonderful results from its use than from any remedy in or out of the Pharma-copia. It is a certain and safe antidote to alf sorts of Blood Poison.

fails to cure. MIDDLE-AGED MEN. There are many at the age of thirty to sixty who are troubled with too frequent evacuation of the bladder, often accompanied by a slight smarting or ourning sensation, and a weakening of the system in a manner the patient cannot account for. On examining the urinary deposits a ropy sediment will often be found, and sometimes small particles of abumen will appear, or the color will be of a thin milkish hue, again changing to a dark and torpid appearance. There are many men who die of this difficulty, ignorant of the cause, which is the recond stage of seminal weakness. Dr. S. will guarantee a perfect cure in all such cases, and a nealthy restoration of the genite-urinary organs.
